St Kilda

One of the world's special places. The archipelago of St Kilda, the remotest part of the British Isles, lies in the Atlantic Ocean, 41 miles (66 kilometres) west of Benbecula in Scotland's Outer Hebrides.

Its islands, with their exceptional cliffs and sea stacs, are rich in wildlife and form the most important seabird breeding station in north-west Europe. The evacuation of its native population in 1930 brought to a close an extraordinary story of survival.

Today, three organisations, The National Trust for Scotland, Scottish Natural Heritage and the MoD work in partnership to further a continuing programme of conservation and research on the islands to ensure the care and protection of this World Heritage Site.

Visiting St Kilda is something we've wanted to do for as long as I can remember...

...and it totally exceeded expectations. Your skipper and crew were great and taught us lots, the boat trip was superb and the islands themselves perfect. Having a glorious sunny day was the icing on the cake. I can honestly say it was one of my most memorable days ever.

Dual World Heritage Site

St Kilda is one of only 35 global locations, and the only UK location to be awarded World Heritage Status for both natural and cultural significance.

The remote Hebridean Islands share this honour with natural and cultural wonders such as the Historic Sanctuary of Machu Picchu in Peru, Mount Athos in Greece and the Ukhahlamba/ Drakensberg Park in South Africa.

What to do on St Kilda

On arrival in Village Bay, passengers make the short transfer by Zodiac dinghy to the main St Kilda island of Hirta. Passengers are free to explore the Island. The St Kilda museum, school and Church provide a fascinating insight into the way of life of the St Kildans prior to their evacuation in 1930. The remains of the village, the graves and First World War gun are all open to view. By request at time of booking, we may be able to arrange a guided walk at a cost of £5 per person.

The season for puffins is usually from end of April to early August, and for gannets, from April to October.

St Kilda Bird Life

Historic connection between Skye and St Kilda

The St Kilda group of islands was for centuries part of the lands of the MacLeod clan seated in Dunvegan Castle, Skye. They were sold in the 1930s after the islanders had been evacuated. Exhibits in Dunvegan Castle illustrate the extraordinary way of life of its people. An example is the horsehair rope. No man was allowed to marry until he had woven one of these, so that he could maintain his wife by being able to hunt for the sea-birds living on the great cliffs. This rope had to be able to bear his weight in case he fell from the cliffs during the hunt.

Other examples are the door lock with its removable wooden key and the post-bag which are recognisable functions of everyday life today. Mail was thrown into the sea to be washed up eventually either on the shores of Norway or of Scotland, depending upon the currents at the time. We recommend a visit to Dunvegan Castle and grounds.

The Boat

The boat you will travel in will be “Integrity” or similar boat. “Integrity” is a fast, comfortable, seaworthy and safe craft for up to 12 passengers and 2 crew. Facilities include a toilet, indoors cabin, open air rear viewing deck, 240v sockets, and ample dry storage for 1 tonne of luggage.

‘Integrity’ is equipped with a comprehensive suite of state of the art navigational equipment for all weather operation.

For your safety, ‘Integrity’ is safety certified each year to the stringent requirements of the Maritime and Coastguard Agency.

The Skipper

Your skipper and crew for the day will be suitably qualified and experienced. Their primary responsibility is the safety and comfort of all of the passengers.

Terms and Conditions - In the event of the weather being unsuitable in the interests of comfort and safety, or the minimum number of bookings not being reached, the trip will be cancelled. In such events, passengers will normally be informed no later than the day prior to travel and will be offered an alternative date. If not suitable for the passenger, there will be a full refund of the price paid, subject to deduction of a 2.5% admin charge. In the most unlikely event of the trip reaching St Kilda but being unable to land due to weather, a 30% refund will be made. In event of the passenger cancelling there will be no refund of monies already paid, unless the seat can be re-sold, in which case there will be a commensurate refund. We do not store credit card details, nor do we share customer details with any 3rd parties.
